

Housing at Payne

Payne Theological Seminary has single and family housing units available for our students. Nestled in the rolling hills of southwest Ohio, the Payne Seminary campus provides comfortable living spaces with all the modern amenities in the natural beauty of Wilberforce, Ohio.

Payne Village

Payne Village is a recent addition to the campus facilities providing modular housing for twenty-seven students. The village provides modern and spacious two, three and four bedroom apartments. Each apartment features a common living area, kitchen and bath. All units are furnished with living room, bedroom and dining furniture, central heat and air conditioning, basic utilities, and standard cable channels.

Gomez Apartments

Married couples and families reside in Payne Seminary's Gomez apartments. These two bedroom/one bath apartments are designed for family living and include central heat and air conditioning, basic utilities, and standard cable channels.

Intensive Housing

Temporary housing is available for out-of-town students who travel to campus to take intensive courses. The Seminary has multiple bedroom apartments - all fully equipped with WiFi access. These spacious apartments are furnished with a fully equipped kitchen (including microwaves and coffee makers), bed linens and towels. Each student has an individual, lockable, bedroom and shares the rest of the living space with other students coming to the intensive class. Each bedroom has a twin bed, desk with chair, dresser and closet. The Seminary does not provide items such as food, paper products, personal grooming products, and soap.**
